A message of Wisdom

To increase your knowledge...

Fall of 2009 is expected to result in high cases of H1N1 swine flu casualties. As stated by Rob Stein/Washington Post on Monday August 24, 2009, 11:28 PM, "Swine flu could infect half the U.S. population this fall and winter, hospitalizing up to 1.8 million people and causing as many as 90,000 deaths -- more than double the number that occur in an average flu season, according to an estimate from a presidential panel released Monday" (Cleveland.com).

To be encouraged, The House That Wisdom Built's (THTWB) Executive Director Mr. Reynolds, has participated in several community focus groups with the goal of designing an implementation plan that will serve the faith based community of Greater Cuyahoga County in implementation plans that will help to curtail this virus. Mr. Reynolds, has also participated in several telephone interview follow-up's as it relates to procedures and impact of the recommended details concerning H1N1. For further details stay tuned.

THTWB celebrates 7 years of operation and service to Greater Cuyahoga County

Moving into the global non profit market...

THTWB, is proud to inform our readers that the staff of THTWB has successful accomplished staff that can guide the organization into a wider spectrum of services. This includes City, County, State, National, International and Non-profit sectors as well as other entrepreneurial venues. This is an extremely valuable resource given the present condition of our domestic and global economy. According to the Executive Director, "It is within the non profit sector that opportunities to create one's economic development can occur." He further states, "this can be in the form of starting a small business, for example doing proof reading for a non profit or starting a ground floor cookie bakery program."

Mr. Reynolds closes by saying, "In this new millennium we have to respond to human needs."

Special message from the CEO...

Transformational leadership is defined as, "Leaders who take on a transformational style have a long-term perspective, focus on customers, promote a shared vision and values, work to stimulate their organizations intellectually, invest in training, take some risk, and treat employees as individuals" (Evans & Lindsay, 2008).

One would believe that the above would add to a non-profit organization that possesses it since the natural flow of human compassion, trust and business ethics as it relates to organizational management would exist. The old cliché was always "if it's not broke don't fix it"--perhaps it's time to "Transform..."
